According to The World Health Organization, suicide is an emerging and serious public health issue in India and young adults accounted for over 67% of the total cases in the country. As part of our efforts to throw some light on the importance and sensitivity of this issue, we conducted a street play on Suicide Prevention in our college campus, in collaboration with RangPunch and Sneh Aangan (A Suicide Prevention Initiative). The setting was simple yet impactful, with banners and posters highlighting key messages about suicide prevention and mental health resources. The street play was divided into several scenes, each depicting different aspects of mental health challenges and suicide prevention. The event ended with a pledge by the attendees to promote mental health awareness and support those in need.

Objectives of the event:

To contribute to keeping the environment clean and remove the wastes that degrade urban beaches

Details of the event:

Samvedana, the social club of SAMSOE, NMIMS held a beach clean-up drive in collaboration with Carter Clean-Up on 17th December, 2022. The event's purpose was to contribute to keeping the environment clean and remove the wastes that degrade urban beaches.

It started with the students of SAMSOE collaborating with Carter Clean-up. This is an organisation which meets every Saturday on Carter Road and volunteers to clean the non-biodegradable waste from Carter beach. The waste is then sent to a recycling unit which converts them to benches.

The students who volunteered from SAMSOE met up with the Carter clean up team and were briefed about the harmful materials found on the beach, and the amount of time each takes to decompose - most of them remaining in the environment infinitely. This was done to increase awareness about the harm that is inadvertently caused to marine life.

The clean-up lasted for about an hour and a half where the students went inside the Mangrove forests to remove all the harmful waste. The Mangroves play a very important role in curbing the cyclone winds entering Mumbai, therefore it is vital to protect them from environmental harm.

Objectives of the event:

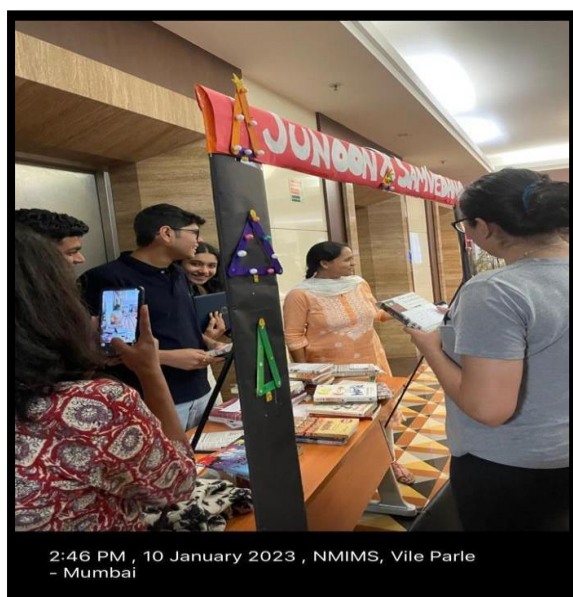

To collect the books from the students, selling them and donating funds to the NGO's

Samvedana, the social service club of SAMSOE, NMIMS along with Junoon, the cultural club of SAMSOE, NMIMS conducted a book collection and donation campaign. The event was organized with the intention of raising donations for two charities, Snehasadan and Missionaries of Charity.

Samvedana volunteers set up a donation box on 10th January 2023 at the 3rd floor corridor, in which students donated books, along with a summary of the book. Prior to the day of the event the books were individually wrapped and accounted for. A minimal price was set for every book. The short summary was then attached to the book, which was done so that the new buyers could choose the book they wanted from their descriptions.

On the day of the event, the stall was set up on the hallway on the third floor. Just before lunch, the committee members from Samvedana and Junoon joined hands and sang Christmas carols to spread the holiday cheer. Following this, students thronged the stalls and purchased books whose descriptions piqued their interest.

Project Aahar is about making a substantial impact by feeding 200 street dwellers in a span of one week. Inclusivity and Equity Cell of Kirit P. Mehta School of Law, joined in Project Aahar initiated by Frontiers Welfare Society. On the first day i.e., 12th March, 2023 (Sunday), Team prepared food for 55 street dwellers. The food consisted of sabzi & chawal. Then both the teams went near Borivali Station in evening to donate food packets to street dwellers. On its second day, 13th March - the project continued by donating food packets of puri & sabzi to 25 street dwellers near the Juhu beach, Mumbai. On its third day, 14th March – our team went to the homes of street dwellers near Vile Parle station and donated 20 food packets to them. While reaching the fourth day, 15th March, we decided to increase the number of food packets to 30 and we went to Andheri Station, Mumbai for the food donation. Fifth day i.e., The three teams, while dividing the work, went to the homes of street dwellers near the Versova Bus station to feed 30 street dwellers. On its sixth day, 17th March – 7-Day Food Donation Drive was almost nearing the end, we fed more than 30 street dwellers near the Santacruz and Vile Parle, Mumbai. On the seventh and the last day, 18th March - which is very close to our heart. This day we aimed for something different. We wanted the children of street dwellers to have that experience of having pizza or any dish in a restaurant. So, we brought 27 kids at Dominos, Vile Parle (West) to have such experience, and their curious gazes with excited glances within themselves made our day. To support our great cause, along with the teams present, our Mentor & faculty at Kirit P. Mehta School of Law, Dr. Vrinda Mohan P was present in the restaurant. We are delighted to successfully complete the first event of Project AAHAAR which was a 7-day Food Donation Drive held at 7 different locations. We hope to conduct more such donation drives in future.
